A hive of industry

Welcome to Dukesfield Smelt Mill

Today this valley is a tranquil haven for wildlife and walkers but two hundred years ago the scene was utterly different. All around was a massive industrial complex where lead ores were turned into bars of lead.

Heavy traffic

Every summer hundreds of ponies carried thousands of tons of lead ore here from the distant North Pennine lead mines. Thousands of pieces of lead left here in carts to be sold at Blaydon on the banks of the River Tyne.

You are here!

Dukesfield as it might have looked around 1800 With thanks to P.F.Ryder

The Dukesfield Smelters and Carriers Project was led by the Friends of the North Pennines in partnership with Hexhamshire and Slaley Parish Councils with the active support of the landowner, Allendale Estates. The project was funded by the Heritage Lottery Fund and the generous support of: The HB Allen Charitable Trust, The Barbour Foundation, The Sir James Knott Trust, Hexham Local History Society, The Joicey Trust and Northumberland County Council.
